THE CAPITOL WHIRL

A Digest of Things Political Occurring At Harrisburg

By International News Service
HARRISBURG, March 18—Approximately 60 per cent of the 1954 persons who filed nomination petitions with the state elections bureau as candidates in the May 21 primary election waited until the last day to file. . . . Several candidates who attempted to pay filing fees in cash almost missed getting their petitions filed because they had to go out and secure certified checks or money orders as required by law.

Candidates will have until March 18 to withdraw from the race. . . . On March 21 drawings will be held in the office of Secretary of Commonwealth Charles M. Morrison for positions on the ballots at the May 21 primary election. . . . Drawings for places on ballots will be held at 9 a. m. for congressmen, state senators and state committee members. Later, ballot place selections will be held for U. S. senator, governor, lieutenant governor and secretary of internal affairs. State representatives' positions will be determined later in the day.

Speed and reckless driving by motorists combined with careless and indifferent walking by pedestrians have been blamed by the State Revenue Department for the majority of traffic fatalities in Pennsylvania. One hundred and sixty-six persons were killed in motor vehicle accidents during January including 105 deaths in rural areas.

"In Pennsylvania municipalities, all tax collectors and other officials regularly serving as tax collectors must be bonded," the Department of Internal Affairs has pointed out. "Generally, the tax collector's bond must have two personal sureties or one corporate surety," the department reported in its monthly bulletin. "The sureties and the size of the bond must be acceptable to the court of quarter sessions. Personal bonds, at no cost to the tax collector, are frequently obtained chiefly in smaller municipalities. Because of the obvious disadvantages of personal bonds and the difficulty of securing them when the amount of liability is high, many tax collectors purchase bonds from surety companies."

William S. Livengood, Jr., of Somerset, Republican candidate for a third term as Secretary of Internal Affairs, has been studying law at Dickinson College since last September. . . . Livengood listed himself as "Secretary of Internal Affairs" when he filed nomination petitions with the state elections bureau. His three colleagues including Gov. Edward Martin called themselves "lawyers."

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

Latest developments in the Iranian situation consisted mainly of unconfirmed reports. London heard that Premier Ghanem was negotiating secretly with Russia on the question of oil concessions, probably in an attempt to reach agreement before the UNO Security Council meets in New York a week from today. Other reports told of Iranian troop activity in Teheran.

Admiral Mitscher had been scheduled to take his powerful Eighth Fleet on a cruise of the Mediterranean, but conditions in that area caused the trip to be abandoned, although some Washington sources felt that a show of American strength might have had a salutary effect.

Russian seizures of factories and farm land in lower Austria has brought a clandestine flight of manufacturing from the Vienna area to American-occupied western districts, tending toward economic separation of the country.

The United Church of Western Ukraine ended its 350-year allegiance to the Roman Catholic Church and returned to the Russian Orthodox Church. A message was sent to Premier Stalin saying "henceforth nothing can separate our united Ukrainian people."

Officially Approve An Airport at Warrington

WARRINGTON, Mar. 18—The Warrington Airport has been completed after considerable delay, and has met with official approval of U. S. officials.

The promoter and manager, Ernest S. Cornell, learned to fly at Pitsburgh Air Field in 1929, and has been active in aeronautics since that time.

During the war he was a civilian instructor for U. S. Navy V-5 cadets at Allentown-Beth Airport until the Navy cancelled their contract.

Last summer he returned to Warrington with the intention of starting a field of his own on the former Washington Cadwallader farm on Bristol road about a half mile west of here.

Doylestown Nature Club Heralds Progress of This Improvement

REPORTS ARE GIVEN

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 18—Members of Doylestown Nature Club are pleased at the report presented them at a meeting this week that progress is being made in removal of unattractive signs from properties on highways approaching this borough.

The meeting, which was attended by 40 members, was featured by annual reports of committees, showing that the club has had an interesting and good year in promoting interest in projects for the conservation of trees and natural beauty not only in and about Doylestown, but throughout the county.

Announcement was made that the club is a member and makes contributions to the following: Garden Club Federation of Pennsylvania, Bucks County Federation of Women's Clubs, Katherine G. Ryan Scholarship fund, Bucks County S. P. C. A., Bowland's Hill State Wild Flower Preserve, Penn's Woods, Red Cross, Pennsylvania Forestry Association, Flowers for the Hospital, Pennsylvania Roadside Council, Redwood League and the Seeing-Eye Foundation.

Birds, it was announced, were well fed at "Fonthill" all Winter. Membership in the Trevores Horticultural Society was advocated.

The guest speaker, Dr. W. M. Roever, a botanist, spoke on the subject, "Your Garden," commenting upon what variety of seeds to plant, the location of plants and how to combat enemies of plants.

YERKES IS SPEAKER

Corn production and its marketing under modern streamlined conditions, and how to get the sweet corn from the field to the consumer's table, before the sugar turns to starch, was outlined before the Doylestown Kiwanis Club this week by one of Bucks county's farmers.

The guest speaker was William H. Yerkes, Jr., owner and operator of "Noneseuch Farm" at Buckingham. He was presented by Kiwanian George E. LeWorthy, chairman of the club's agricultural committee.

In presenting the speaker, Kiwanian LeWorthy called attention to the fact that "we all ought to be vitally interested in agriculture at this time if what we read in the newspapers and hear on the radio is true concerning food."

Mr. Yerkes described the growing of corn on his farm and the marketing system. Corn is pulled during the night, starting about one a. m. under the lights of a special machine that was designed by the owner of the farm. This corn is delivered to markets in Philadelphia with the dew still on the cobs and in plenty of time to be sold and eaten the same day.

Corn is plucked at least three times a week on the Noneseuch Farm. The speaker also stated that the shortage of butter last summer

Collectors Kept Busy By Late Filers of Tax

The four deputy collectors of internal revenue who had a grand rush during the past week at the U. S. Internal Revenue office, Mill street, are enjoying a respite from income tax filing period.

With scores upon scores of people rushing to file during the final days of the period, ending March 15th, the local office was kept open until nine, and 9:30 each evening last week, and on Friday until midnight—the deadline.

"We had a lot who waited until the last minute to file, although there were quite a number who filed returns as soon as they received the necessary information from their employers," commented one of the collectors today.

During the filing period the two collectors assigned here were aided by two additional collectors, with one of the latter now being permanently assigned to Bristol, making three collectors now located here for regular duty.

ONE MAN'S OPINION . . .

By Walter Kiernan
(Distributed by International News Service)

Winnie Churchill can always say he was treated as though he was one of us. . . . He drew just as many pickets as an Alfred Sloan or a Ben Fairless.

Everything was in the best of taste. At his big dinner, catering was by Oscar of the Waldorf and cat-calling by the CIO of Greater New York.

But for a man who came over here "for a little rest" he hasn't given us much.

It's getting so you can't bust a paper bag without people leaping up and shouting "Here come the Russians!"

A waitress asks a customer if he would like Russian dressing and he screams "Call the FBI . . . I'm surrounded!"

Our only salvation is national laugh week which is set for April 1 if we can hold out that long.

It began early in Washington . . . the Pauley hearings could not be delayed.

We are all expected to get up on the morning of April 1 laughing nervously . . . men in 1-A are exempt.

FIGHT OR QUIT?

The problem facing the individual men and women of the United States has never been put in more striking fashion than it was a few days ago by Hatton W. Summers, who for 33 years has been a Democratic Congressman from Texas.

Said he:

"By ignoring principles and the lessons of history and accepting the theories of men and political expedience for our guidance, we have made vassals of our States and dependents of our people.

"By concentration of governmental power, and drafts upon the Federal Treasury, we have now a financially busted, great piled-up mass of governmental confusion beyond human comprehension, impossible of democratic control, extravagant, wasteful, inefficient, and by its nature the instrumentality of favoritism, tyranny, oppression and corruption, and the destroyer of the self-reliance and self-respect and governmental capacity of the people, qualities without which no people can remain free."

Few thinking Americans will dispute this indictment. It is a thumb-nail sketch, although eloquent and blistering, of what various clear-sighted persons—both Republicans and Democrats—have been saying about the national government for twelve years.

The facts themselves are self-evident. The question is what to do about it.

Representative Summers has made up his own mind. He is quitting Congress; will not run for re-election.

But what about the American people themselves? Are they going to resist the trend, overpower and reverse it; or simply lie down and let events take their course?

It is idle to talk of the government deceiving them about what has been happening and continues to happen. The only real deceit involved is self-deceit. Anyone who disbelieves any of the above statements about his government is fooling no one but himself; he is pretending to believe what he knows is not true, and doing it for reasons which are presumably selfish and certainly short-sighted.

WOES OF BURGLARS

While the practice of burglary appears to continue without interruption in this city and country, the art seems at times to have fallen into decline. This was shown in Tulsa, Okla., recently when a burglar sought to enter a food market through a skylight, only to step onto a false ceiling which gave way and land in a 60-gallon barrel of dill pickles.

Ordinary thieves have no better. In Brooklyn one of that ilk sought to enter a pawn shop by breaking a plate glass window while a bus was passing. On the bus was a detective who immediately left the vehicle and prevented the intruder from achieving any economic gains.

In contrast, there is the case in New York City of a safe robber who used nitroglycerine to blow a safe. He succeeded in filching $500 and also got away with a tub of valuable—redundant word—butter. But he was ridiculed by the police for using "soup," although they said nothing of his realization of the value of butter.

It is possible that burglars, thieves and robbers have of late years suffered considerably from confusion of mind. As everyone knows, cigarettes not long ago were scarcer than money, and so were good cigars. Then there was the liquor shortage, and now there is the butter shortage. Burglars and robbers very likely consider that they can always get money, but it is not every day that opportunity comes to obtain scarce merchandise.

Having only so much time to spend in a place without fear of being interrupted in their work, they must be at wits' end to decide what to take, especially those who traffic in the black market.
But any indecision on their part is a boon to the police and the law-abiding.

Furthermore, the citizenry is much more irritated by the stealing of butter and things of that sort than money. And irritated citizens should, and usually do, demand more efficient police work.

READING WITHOUT PLEASURE

Nowhere is it compulsory to read a newspaper. In fact, in many a country many a man couldn't read a newspaper if he had one in his hand. But in the United States more people read newspapers than in any other country in the world.

Figures just made public by Editor & Publisher show that in the United States even more people read newspapers in 1945 than in the year before. The 1945 circulation of newspapers reached a record 48,384,188 daily, nearly 2,500,000 more than the 1944 circulation. And of course many more people read newspapers than the circulation figures show.

Says Editor & Publisher:
"This rise of 5.3 per cent over the previous year is not only the largest numerical increase but the largest percentage gain in total newspaper circulations of any year since the E&P statistics were first gathered in 1920."

The American people are the best informed of any. The only regret is that what they read about the state of the world today isn't more pleasant reading.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol Jan. 1, 1891. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

The names of Pennypack and the Neshaminy Falls grove, and Cornwells stations are to be changed, and the railroad company is contemplating doing away with the Andalusia station and establishing a new one between Cornwells and Andalusia for both places.

The B. & O. engineers are again surveying through Bensalem township.
The sale of the Livingston Mills by Livingston Grandin to Edward T. Steele of Philadelphia, was consummated on Monday. The price paid is understood to be in the neighborhood of $50,000. The mills were erected by C. W. and J. Peirce and with the improvements added from time to time cost about $250,- 000. Mr. Steele, the new owner, is a well-known manufacturer of worsted goods and cassimeres, and in addition to his large business in this country has an extensive mill at Bradford, England.

Herbert Pierson, a native of Bristol, and the son of Mrs. Helen W. Pierson, died of pneumonia at Madrid, Spain, on Sunday, December 11th. Mr. Pierson, who was a valued contributor of several journals, had gone to Spain for the purpose of making sketches and gathering material for the Cosmopolitan Magazine of New York. He was a young man of fine natural talent, which was further developed by attendance at the best schools in Paris and Stuttgart. He was 32 years of age.

FIGHT OR QUIT?

Summers spoke what has been in his heart for a long time. As far back as during the White House attempt to "pack" the Supreme Court, Summers resisted the overcentralization of power in the executive branch of government. What he has to say is just another way of expressing what countless other Southern Democrats have said—men like Byrd of Virginia, George of Georgia, Mc-Kellar of Tennessee, and a host of others.

For patriotic Democrats, those unwilling to coat-tail ride cheerfully to disaster for the crumbs they can pick up, the swing of President Truman to the extremes of Communism and deficit-financing presents a tragic choice.

Their party has been split asunder. The real "unholy alliance" of the generation—the fusion under Roosevelt of Communists, big-city political gangsters and head-in-the-clouds social planners—has hit the rocks. No longer is there a mutuality of purpose; the machine-politics boys are in the saddle, courting the Radicals; and those who are just plain, sincere, patriotic Democrats of the Jeffersonian school, have nowhere to go.

Talk of a third party, especially busy since Harold Ickes left the Truman cabinet with a statement just as fiery as that of Summers, rises not out of the national situation, but out of the peculiar needs of those living below the Mason-Dixon line, where the only regular party with a chance to win the elections has forsaken the philosophy most of its members believe in.

The only approach to a third party in the United States today which has its feet on the ground is that of the fusion in Congress. A large slice of the Democratic membership, hopelessly antagonistic to the White House program, have found a common meeting point with the great majority of the Republican membership in Congress.

If this merger could find means to carry forward its program, instead of merely amending or blocking the White House program, it could largely take over the government of the United States.

Thus far its difficulties have been insuperable. The greatest handicap lies in the fact that the White House "faithful," though now a very small minority of the entire Congressional membership, nevertheless have a tight hold on the machinery of Congress and the chairmanships of the important committees.

The special difficulties which Summers faced, particularly those of his being an anti-Administration Democrat in a region where ordinarily no one but a Democrat can win, and of his being in an almost hopeless spot in Congress for helping initiate a positive program, may furnish sound reasons for his withdrawal. He is not quitting; his statement makes clear that he proposes to keep on fighting the "system," only henceforth from the outside instead of the in.

But the average citizen cannot walk out and leave the fight. It goes on around him whatever he does. It is his savings, his taxes, his possessions and his liberties which are being fought over and raided. If inflation continues, he is the man who will be ruined.

He can, like a whipped puppy, lie down and take it; or he can stand up and fight back.

How can he fight back? There is only one agency in the entire American arena which has a chance to achieve the salvation of the American nation; that is the Republican Party.

The majority sentiment in Congress is tied to an unwritten platform cut from the timbers of Republican beliefs originating with Hamilton and Washington—the party's traditional code since Abraham Lincoln.

The whole future of America lies in the simple question of whether the next Congress, which is to be elected this Fall, will be Republican or Democratic.

Pennsylvania will be one of the major battlefields in that campaign.

The way to fight back is to see that your own vote and those of all your family and your friends are registered, so that you may be prepared, next November, to cast them for the rescue of this nation from the disasters so many Democrats foresee—vote Republican!

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. T. Kohlmeier

Lord Jesus, Who during Thy passion wast utterly forsaken by God and man, let us not forget that Thou hast not forsaken us, but that it was in our interest that Thou didst suffer such terrible agony, and that Thou today yet dost intercede for us, pleading for our pardon at the throne of the heavenly Father. We thank Thee most sincerely for this Thy love. We pray Thee to keep us ever mindful of Thy suffering and death so that, trusting only in Thy blood we may never perish. Amen.

HARRIMAN FIVE MEETS EAGLES HERE TONIGHT

Game Will Decide the Play-Off Champions of the Youth League

A PRELIMINARY GAME

Ardmore Will Play Ramblers in Game Starting at 7.30

The game to decide the playoff champions of the Bristol Youth League will be played tonight on the Mutual Aid floor with the Harriman team facing the Third Ward Eagles. This game will follow a preliminary fracas between Ardmore and the Ramblers which will get under way at 7.30 o'clock.

The Harriman team entered the final by swamping the Celtics last Thursday night while the Eagles made their playoff bid by noosing out Franklin in a hectic game, 36-34. Franklin won the regular season championship by beating Harriman by one point after the two clubs had finished the season in a deadlock.

Both Franklin and the winners of tonight's contest will be awarded trophies at the annual Youth League banquet.

On paper the Harriman team is a heavy favorite over the Third Ward aggregation. The Warders have constantly refused to pad up its team with additional players from the various high schools and have stuck to its same line-up since the start of the season.

The sixth ward team is practically loaded with high school players with Stan Lelinski, Ed Capriotti, Johnny Pindar, and "Bill" Poltz and in addition to these it has Glenn Shelly, Marvin Walters, Frank Murphy, Johnny Fraser, and Johnny Praksa. The team is led in scoring by Capriotti.

The Eagles have one of the best players in the circuit in "Johnny" Rodgers. It was Rodgers who practically beat the Franklin team single-handedly last week when he scored 24 of the 36 points and scored four field goals in succession which changed the tide of the contest.

The Harriman team is determined to hold down this scoring ace tonight and both Glenn Shelly and Marvin Walters have been given orders by Manager Dick Brown to guard Rodgers very close. "Bill" McGerr, Ed Donnelly, Ternesone, "Hughie" Arbutnot, Johnny Ennis, and Stone make up the rest of the Third Ward line-up.

The preliminary game between the Ramblers and Ardmore should be an interesting affair. Ardmore was runner-up in the Main Line Youth League and barely missed the playoffs. They have a team of tall set-shot artists who can drop the ball from any angle of the court. Last season, this same Ardmore team trounced the Ramblers by 30 points.

The Ramblers will miss their high-scoring star, "Freddie" Costantini, who recently entered the army, but will have "Lefty" DiTanna, "Dezzy" DeLisa, "Moe" Cancelli, Favoroso, and DeLisa in its line-up.

GUILD CARD PARTY

A dessert card party for benefit of the Needlework Guild of America (Bristol Branch) will be conducted on Wednesday at 1.30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. L. J. Bevan, Cedar and Dorrance streets. The public is invited, the games to be played being pinocle, bridge and "500" with parcheesi and Chinese checkers for non-card players. The proceeds will be used to purchase material which the sewing bee of the guild will make into dresses, pajamas, etc. The bee consists of a group of women who sew one day a week for the guild.

pressed confidence that Eire had lost no friends in America because of her neutrality. He reaffirmed coolness toward Britain as long as partition of Ireland continued.

"Closer understanding and co-operation" between the American and Russian people was urged by the CIO committee that visited Moscow and Leningrad. It praised the labor movement there and pointed out that the work week was forty-eight hours, that the Government budgeted each industry and designated how much might go for wages. Russia suffers from a shortage of consumer goods and the worker is less concerned with the amount of wages than with finding something to buy, the committee reported.

Federal Reserve System experts said "American industry has done an astonishing job of reconversion."

A new Congress coalition moved to study a probable limited extension of Selective Service and the possibility of meeting UNO and occupation commitments with volunteers.

The La Follette Progressive party in Wisconsin passed out of existence when its convention voted to reaffiliate with the Republican party.

Considers The Quick Marketing of Corn

had a decided effect on the amount of corn consumed.

The entire program of corn production on the farm has been reversed, Mr. Yerkes pointed out. The old method of pulling the corn during the day, has changed to a night job entirely, and the quality of the corn has been fully retained.

He stated that the New York market will this year receive a lot of Bucks county corn. Last season, in addition to supplying Phila. markets, the farm also shipped corn in refrigeration trucks to Florida.

Twenty-five corn growers in the lower end of Bucks county are doing the same type of production and marketing, he informed.

Hybrid corn is used exclusively on the Yerkes farm and, whenever it is necessary, the extension service of the Bucks County Farm Bureau is used, Mr. Yerkes pointed out.

Under the marketing system as used by the speaker, the producer gets 60 per cent of the consumer's dollar and the distributor gets 40 per cent. Yerkes said that the farm laborers on his place, working at night pulling corn, receive $1.50 and $1.25 per hour; that the workers are much more satisfied with night work in the corn fields.

Frozen corn, he said, is used in his own home in the winter; that it is very good, but that nothing can take the place of fresh sweet corn.
